How to prepare to use Zoom

Where do I find the Zoom link for my course?

- 1) A registration confirmation will be emailed to you after you pay for your course. This email will contain the Zoom link. Remember to make note of this email and create a folder in your inbox labeled “OLLI Zoom” and save it.
- 2) A course reminder will be emailed to you four days prior to the start date of the course. This email will also contain the Zoom link. Again, make note and save it.
- 3) Login to your OLLI account. Click on the person icon. Choose “Class List.” The Zoom link will be in the “Receipt Notes.”

What devices do I need to use Zoom?

At the most basic level, all you need to use Zoom is a telephone, such as a smartphone or landline. However, if you have access to a computer or mobile device you can use the full capabilities of Zoom. The following equipment will enhance your experience:

- Mobile devices, including laptops with cameras and built-in microphones.
- Web camera on your device: A camera will increase your connection with your instructor and your peers by allowing you to see each other face-to-face. If you do not have access to a web camera, you will still be able to see the instructor.
- Headset with a microphone: This will let you hear and be heard more clearly. This does not need to be fancy equipment; it can be the same as the headphones you might use with your phone.

How do I join a Zoom meeting?

You will receive a Zoom link for your upcoming OLLI at UNL course(s) in your registration confirmation email, and in a reminder email prior to class. Next to or underneath each class title, you will see a link. Copy and paste that link into your web browser OR click on the link to enter the digital classroom. If your course has multiple sessions, you will use the same link every week the course meets.

A Zoom account is not required to attend a class session. Anyone can attend a class session using their laptop or desktop (Windows or Mac), tablet, or smartphone (iPhone or Android). A free download of Zoom is available in your app store for your device.

- If you have not used Zoom before, allow about five minutes to set it up before your first use.
- If you use a laptop or desktop, the first time you click on a link it will download a free and secure program to your computer.
- If you use a tablet or smart phone, you will need to download the free and secure Zoom application from your app store.

Over 40 hours of programming are available for a single cost of $30. After registration, you will receive an email with a “Join Code” and instructions on how to access programming.

All programming originates from OLLI at UNL.

Name, Image, Likeness: NIL and College Athletics – 1 session

Have you heard about NIL and wondered what it’s all about? How has this impacted college athletes? What other developments may impact this initiative in the next several years? You will receive an overview of NIL developments in college athletics since July 2021.

The Language and Psychology of Disinformation – 6 sessions

George Ayoub, journalist and adjunct professor at Hastings College explores the various ways information consumers are deceived, the consequences of such deceptions, and the impact of disinformation on democratic principles such as voting that rely on a shared, verifiable set of facts. The class discusses the psychology behind the use of propaganda and disinformation. Learn techniques to combat the onslaught of disinformation.

Kansas Black History – 2 sessions

For a state outside of the South, a great deal of civil rights history has occurred in Kansas. Learn about this history occurring within this neighboring state through two primary topics, the first of which is the significance of the historic Supreme court decision in Brown vs. Board of Education, which involved a young Black girl who wanted to attend her neighborhood school in Topeka. Today that school is a National Historic Site. Also learn the story of Black Homesteaders who founded the town of Nicodemus, Kansas. Angela Bates, descendent of the original homesteaders talks about the history of the town which is also a National Historic Site.

The History of the Negro Baseball League – 2 sessions

Baseball was the major sport in the United States from the Civil War until well into the 20th century. For blacks, though, their baseball history stopped in 1947 when Jackie Robinson debuted with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Former Nebraska Wesleyan baseball coach Bill Fagler takes an in-depth look at this fascinating period in history, including the players, teams, administrators, and events that shaped Negro League Baseball.

Mosquitoes, Ticks, and More – 2 sessions

In Nebraska, mosquitoes and ticks can thrive and carry diseases such as West Nile Virus, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and Lyme Disease. And now “kissing bugs” and the Chagas disease parasite have been found in Nebraska. Public health professionals provide an overview of these arthropods and other public health pests, their diseases, how they are transmitted, risks for contracting, and how you can protect yourself and your family from these risks.

The Bible as Literature – 6 sessions

Study the growth and development of the collection of religious texts known as “the Bible.” There will be an emphasis on historical events that influence both content and context. Religion, literature, social, and political institutions are integral elements in the historical process.

Pistols at Twenty Paces: Honor and Violence Through the Ages – 6 sessions

“Sir, a man may shoot the man who invades his character, as he may shoot him who attempts to break into his house.” So wrote Samuel Johnson in 1791. The theme of this course rests on the presumption implicit in Johnson’s statement, namely that men (mainly) are justified in resorting to force when others impinge upon the social construction that is their public honor or reputation. We will examine the role of honor, here seen as a form of property, in understanding violent behavior among individuals, groups, and even nations from the ancient Greeks to “The Godfather.”

Keep the Memories, Not the Stuff – 3 sessions

Our attachment to “stuff” is real. Letting go can be difficult. Yet, holding onto too much stuff can be suffocating or immobilizing, preventing us from living our best life because we are too weighed down by our possessions. Learn the problem of “inherited stuff” as well as our own “keepsake clutter.” Get a new perspective on memories, life, and love – and how none of it is tied to STUFF. Learn hands-on tips and practical advice for choosing which possessions to keep, to get rid of, and what it really means to leave a legacy for your loved ones.

Dear Judy: A Memoir from the Inside Out

The Russo-Ukrainian War: Origins and Outcomes

We will review the interconnected history of Russia and Ukraine from the Middle Ages through the crucially formative Soviet period. With the benefit of hindsight, we will analyze the most relevant events of 1991-2013, such as collectivization, World War II and Khrushchev's "gift" of Crimea to the Ukrainian SSR. Following this, we will review events in Ukraine and Russia from the crucial year 2014, with the Maidan Revolution, Russian annexation of Crimea and war in the Donbass. The outbreak of full-scale war in early 2022 with the beginning of Russia's "special military operation" will serve as the backdrop for a review of the complex military and economic realities of the conflict as it has played out since. Diplomacy, linkages with other world events and the current domestic realities of Ukraine and Russia will be considered. We will conclude through review of the latest developments and attempts to predict the future.

We all live in a watershed, and the health of our watersheds is essential for our thriving community. Healthy watersheds provide us with clean water, flood control, habitat for wildlife, recreation opportunities, economic benefits, and improved quality of life. The Antelope Valley project is a great example of this, providing significant flood reduction, transportation improvements, recreational uses, and an entertainment hub for our community.

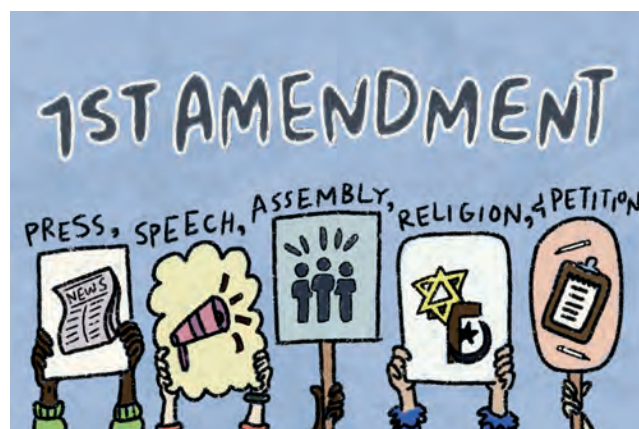

Learn how the City of Lincoln manages our local watersheds to protect homes, businesses, and infrastructure from flooding and stream erosion, improve water quality and other natural resources, and increase our communities' resilience to a changing climate. Current efforts that will be highlighted include flood map updates, feasibility study of flood protections, and watershed master planning. Americans highly value their First Amendment right to free expression, but we also value other rights, and sometimes those rights clash with each other. What about a person's right to privacy versus the right to free speech? What about taking a knee during the Pledge of Allegiance versus displaying grateful patriotism? And how much freedom of expression should college students and faculty be able to exercise? What about protesting government restrictions during a pandemic? Should we be able to regulate speech on social media platforms? These are the questions we will explore and discuss in this course.

Finding Meaning in Mysterious Messages

Deciphering coded texts deliberately hidden in known languages is one thing (e.g., Enigma in WWII). It's even more challenging when the source language of a message is unknown, and there is no Rosetta Stone to be found. We will examine several famous cases where only fragments written in a language have survived and consider possible ways to figure out what they may mean, including Etruscan, linear A and B, Indus Valley impressions, the Phaistos disc, and rongorongo. Our efforts may show how difficult such a task is, and what it shows about how human languages are put together... how a language may look, sound, and mean.

Edith Wilson: The First Lady Who REALLY Ran the Country

Was she an unconstitutional usurper or a devoted wife? Married in 1915, President Woodrow Wilson's second wife, Edith, was a wealthy, beautiful and brilliant D.C. businesswoman who owned the first electric car and traveled to Europe annually. In October 1919, President Wilson suffered a crippling, near-fatal stroke which was enveloped in secrecy. Fed misleading information, the press and the cabinet were shut out for the next eighteen months. Who was running the country? All visitors, paperwork, personnel decisions went to Edith saying that her top priority "was first my beloved husband whose life I was trying to save" and "after that he was President of the United States". Edith is one of American history's most influential and complicated women who wielded unauthorized power as the first unelected woman to govern the country.

Linguistic Diversity in the U.S.

This course focuses primarily on the varieties of American English spoken by native speakers of the language. Even with the expected homogenizing effect of national media, regional and social dialect differences persist and are surprisingly robust. We will consider the reasons for this and look at attitudes toward these ways of speaking. Excerpts of the PBS documentary "Do You Speak American?" will provide background material and topics for discussion. Dialect maps of the U.S. will be presented and evidence from surveys and observations from participants will enhance the class. Along the way, our investigation will reveal some basic concepts of the modern study of linguistics and its view of dialect diversity. This is a repeat course, with only a few updates.

Learning from Nebraska's "Never Event"

History unexamined may become history repeated. This simple premise and a desire to save lives led to the true story of one of America's largest outbreaks of Hepatitis C resulting from healthcare transmission in the book "A Never Event: Exposing the Largest Outbreak of Hepatitis C in American Healthcare History." The event took place in Nebraska in 2002. The book is written by a survivor and an attorney who represented 19 of the victims. They will lead the course.

A "Never Event" is a term used to describe a preventable medical tragedy. The book offers a searing account of the medical, legal and emotional challenges of the outbreak. The presenters will lead a discussion about the lessons learned from the many tragedies that resulted.

The book may be purchased through Amazon or obtained from the library. Reading the book before class is highly recommended so that attendees can better participate in robust discussions.

The Vietnam War: Origins, Impact and Legacy

In July 2023, Governor Pillen visited Vietnam to pursue trade opportunities. Fifty years prior, on 29 March 1973, the last American soldier left Vietnam. Many of those in OLLI recall the photo of a helicopter evacuating personnel from the U.S. embassy in Saigon, now Ho Chi Minh City, as an embarrassing moment in American history. We will discuss the origins of the Cold War in the 1950s, the traumatic 1960s, and the American withdrawal in 1973. Research and books about the period present interesting new information about the conflict. Our memories paint pictures of this unique period of history; this discussion will help clarify those memories and present new facts that further explain our involvement and withdrawal. Finally, learn about the restoration of relations. Who would have predicted that 50 years after that helicopter liftoff that a state governor and United States President would visit Vietnam.

What's Up with Bracketology?

The NCAA uses a season-ending tournament - “March Madness” - to determine its national collegiate champion in Division I men’s basketball. The tournament field begins with 68 teams out of 319 competing schools. Which teams get in? Which are left out? Which are “on the bubble?” Processes for analyzing the prospects and predicting the bracket of selected teams have come to be known as “bracketology.” Engage in bracketology, playing the roles of the NCAA’s Tournament Selection Committee. For the final six weeks leading up to Selection Sunday, the mock selection committee will identify and work with criteria for selection, develop a mock bracket and adjust it regularly, and ultimately create a final version, which will stand in comparison to the NCAA’s official bracket.

The word fascism has been increasingly used to describe some modern political movements across the world. But what does the term actually mean? Fascism is a loose, incoherent, and conflicted collection of ideologies, myths and hatreds that is difficult to define. To understand the concept, we must understand its history. Explore its origins in Benito Mussolini's Italy, its zenith in Nazi Germany, its continued influence in Cold War-era Spain and other manifestations throughout history. We will then discuss today's political movements and be in a better position to identify and confront any possible fascist threats - before it is too late.
